

The Patrick L. Newman Mic-O-Say Scholarship

Patrick L. Newman served for nearly thirty years on the Tribal Council of the Tribe of Mic-O-Say, and often urged the organization to create an educational scholarship for young Tribesmen.

Medicine Man Wet Firesticks held multiple academic degrees and understood the importance and value of higher education. He strongly believed that Scouts should pursue their educational opportunities, and believed that Tribesmen, in particular, by virtue of the promises they made, should utilize their education as a means of service to others. The establishment of this scholarship, named in his memory, is the fulfillment of that lifelong goal.

The Newman Scholarship is awarded annually and each scholarship has a value of $1000. One or more scholarships may be awarded in any given year depending on the availability of funds. The scholarship is funded entirely by private voluntary donations.
